

COMUNICATO STAMPA

S&P conferma il rating di Cattolica a BBB

Confermato anche l'outlook

Abbassato di un notch il rating delle due emissioni obbligazionarie quotate (a BB)

Verona, 10 giugno 2020. Standard & Poor's ha confermato oggi il rating di Cattolica a BBB e l'outlook negativo. L'Agenzia ha confermato il rating a BBB in quanto gli elementi di "financial strength" e "operating performance" rimangono invariati nonostante l'impatto della pandemia da COVID-19 e la volatilità nel breve termine del Solvency II ratio, grazie alla solida performance tecnica.

L'assessment before sovereign risk di Cattolica è confermato a bbb+, più elevato di un notch rispetto al financial strength rating BBB, che rimane limitato da quello della Repubblica Italiana, secondo quanto previsto dai criteri dell'Agenzia.

L'Agenzia ha invece abbassato da BB+ a BB il rating di entrambe le emissioni obbligazionarie quotate emesse dal Gruppo Cattolica a seguito dell'indebolimento del Solvency II ratio di Gruppo determinato dall'attuale situazione dei mercati finanziari generata dalla crisi legata alla pandemia da COVID-19, pur giudicando "remota" l'ipotesi del differimento della cedola.

Research Update:

Societa Cattolica di Assicurazione's Tier 2 Debt Downgraded To 'BB' On Weakening Solvency II Ratio; Ratings Affirmed

June 10, 2020

Overview

- Societa Cattolica di Assicurazione's solvency II (SII) ratio dropped to 122% on May 22, 2020, from 147% in first-quarter 2020 due to lower risk-free rates and wider spreads on Italian government bonds, which represent 55% of the group's investments.
- As the SII ratio is getting closer to the regulatory minimum, we see a higher risk that the group could defer coupon payments on its rated hybrid instruments and, consequently, are downgrading these instruments to 'BB' from 'BB+'.
- At the same time, we are affirming the 'BBB' ratings on the group, because our view of its financial strength and operating performance remains unchanged despite the COVID-19 pandemic and short-term SII volatility.
- The negative outlook reflects that on Italy.

Rating Action

On June 10, 2020, S&P Global Ratings downgraded Societa Cattolica di Assicurazione's (Cattolica's) Tier 2 notes to 'BB' from 'BB+'. We also affirmed the 'BBB' long-term insurer financial strength and issuer credit ratings on the company with a negative outlook.

Rationale

The solvency II (SII) ratio decline increases the likelihood of coupon deferral. Under our methodology for rating junior subordinated debt issues, we currently rate Cattolica's Tier 2 notes two notches below the 'BBB' long-term issuer credit rating. The rating on the notes reflects their subordination and interest deferral features. As the group's SII gets closer to the regulatory minimum, we see a higher risk--albeit still remote--that Cattolica could defer the coupon payments to protect its capitalization. Taking into account that Cattolica announced its interim estimated SII ratio dropped to 122% on May 22, 2020, we now add a one-notch negative adjustment for increased risk of coupon nonpayment, and have lowered the rating on these notes from 'BB+' to 'BB'.

We see deferral risk as still remote, since we expect Cattolica to undertake capital management actions in the coming months to materially strengthen its SII ratio. We understand that Cattolica management's initial proposal is a capital equity raise combined with an exchange offer of some existing Tier 2 instruments into restricted Tier 1 instruments. We also observe that the spread on Italian government bonds has significantly declined since May 22 (by about 40 basis points) which will have materially increased SII.

Cattolica's concentration in Italian government bonds links its SII ratio to volatile spread dynamics. The group's SII ratio for first-quarter 2020 was 147%, down from 175% at year-end 2019, due to COVID-19-related market turmoil. We understand that the additional drop in May is the consequence of unfavorable movements in the risk free curve, Italian government bond spreads, and the volatility adjustment. The group was particularly affected because Italian government bonds still account for 55% of total invested assets, despite a partial diversification effort conducted in recent years.

Short-term market volatility does not hamper our view of the group's intrinsic creditworthiness. We expect Cattolica's operating performance will remain resilient in 2020 despite the COVID-19 pandemic, since the company has confirmed its pre-crisis guidance. Despite a deceleration in gross written premium growth with respect to our previous forecast, driven by severe lockdown measures imposed in Italy between March and May, we believe that sound technical performance in property/casualty business lines, especially motor, will enable the company to reach a net income (before minority interests) above €100 million this year.

Furthermore, our fair assessment of Cattolica's financial risk profile is well positioned in its current category, and less subject to short-term market dynamics than the SII ratio.

As Cattolica's regulatory capital position evolves, we could alter the notching on the notes to reflect changes in the likelihood of suspension on the hybrids. We could narrow the notching between the rating on the hybrid notes and the issuer credit rating if we observe a sustainable and significant increase in Cattolica's SII ratio. In this regard, we understand that Italy's Institute for the Supervision of Insurance has requested Cattolica conduct a substantial capital increase. However, the timing and size of this increase remains uncertain, in our view.

Outlook

The negative outlook mirrors that on Italy.

Downside scenario

We could lower the ratings on Cattolica if we lower our long-term rating on Italy.

Upside scenario

We could revise our outlook to stable if we revise the outlook on Italy to stable.
